

Nazmus Salahin obtains PhD

Observer Desk

Nazmus Salahin, scientist of Soil Science Division, BARI, Gazipur achieved PhD degree from Bangladesh Agricultural University (BAU) in Mymensingh.

His research title is "Influence of minimum tillage and crop residue retention on soil organic matter, nutrient content and crop productivity in the rice-jute system", says a press release.

He accomplished his research work under the supervision of Prof Dr M Jahiruddin, Prof Dr M Rafiqul Islam of BAU and Prof Dr Richard W. Bell of Murdoch University, Australia.

He is the 3rd son of Maolana Md Ismail Hossain of Kachari Para village, under Pangsha upazilla of Rajbari district.

